. . . and that brother band,
The sorrowing exiles from their "Fatherland"
Leaving their home in Kriesheim's bowers of vine,
And the blue beauty of their glorious Rhine,
To seek amidst our solemn depths of wood
Freedom from man and holy peace with God.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

PENNSYLVANIA Dutch art is not merely the fanciful expression of crude colonial artists, but rather the creation of a boundless surge of religious emotion. The above quotation from Whittier expresses the heavy heart of a people seeking a land where they might be free to express themselves in religious worship as they pleased. This basic desire gave the art forms of the Pennsylvania Dutch a certain amount of independence and continuity of design not concerned with form, but idea. They printed and painted what they saw within the cloisters of their own hearts; and to draw such lilies is a far different matter from painting the lilies that grow in the field.

The symbolism of Pennsylvania Dutch art is described very well in the words of Jacob Boehme, a shoemaker of long ago, "For the rose in the time of the lily shall blossom in May when the winter is past, for blindness to the wicked and for light to the seeing." The Rose of Sharon was used to symbolize Christ. The blossoming of the lily meant the perfect life which they hoped to find and live in the new land. The eagle became the symbol of the new nation they would organize there. A pair of cooing doves with necks entwined signified the divine love that God ever expressed toward them.

Pennsylvania Dutch art was a craft art in which beauty was combined with utility, and which found expression on chests, birth certificates, hymn books, barns, tombstones, samplers, stove plates, and tavern signs. Thus it was not so much decorative as it was a part of the living heritage of culture and life handed down in daily use from generation to generation, until it was crowded out by the Industrial Age.

This now lost art is still a part of the heritage of the greater portion of Goshen College students and faculty. The Maple Leaf of 1943 has used it as an art theme in the sincere desire to recover for all of us something beautiful and true, the deeper meaning of which lies hidden in the soul of Goshen College—that of the human heart seeking "freedom from man and holy peace with God." And in this theme we overlay and symbolize the life and spirit of which we have been a part throughout the year.

ERNEST E. MILLER, Ph.D., President

To Faculty, Students and All Friends of Goshen College:

"I thank my God upon every remembrance of you, always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy, for your fellowship in the gospel, from the first day until now: being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you, will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ: even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because I have you in my heart . . . . . " —Philippians 1:3-7.

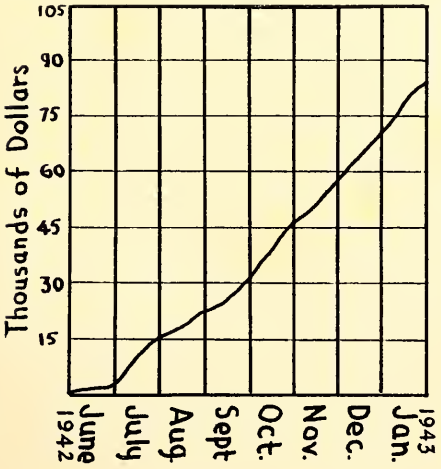
THE DEBT LIQUIDATION COMMITTEE

Ernest E. Miller, Laban L. Swartzendruber, Orie O. Miller, C. L. Graber, I. E. Burkhart, Milo Kauffman.

Debt Liquidation Program

From 1924 until 1932, Goshen College and Hesston College passed through a period of adjustment and depression-financing that brought an indebtedness of $88,000 upon the Mennonite Board of Education. During the past decade both schools operated on a balanced budget, and increased their assets. Goshen built a library, and Hesston an industrial arts shop, both free of debt, and together reduced the total Board indebtedness to $74,000.



On June 1, 1942 the Mennonite Board of Education launched a debt liquidation program to pay off the $74,000 debt; to raise $23,500 for operating expenses until September 1, 1943; and to provide an emergency fund of $7,500, making a total of $105,000.

Through the efforts of the committee $85,800.50 in cash was collected by February 17, 1943. Additional pledges amounted to $30,000, so that the total goal of $105,000 was more than reached.

Goshen College now faces the future entirely free of debt.

SPRING

April, month for dreams,
Time to catch again
The hidden beat of life
That lives in every year,
Hold fast my hand
Within your own;
Rain-scented,
Earth-washed,
Renew again swift hope,
Give but one dream.

THE LOWLY ADD THEIR BEAUTY

Timothy, dandelion, and red sorrel,
Just old weeds, you say.
But bending and swaying they keep perfect time
To the rhythm the wind started today.

MY PRAYER

Such peace to kneel
Before the altar here.
Not all the fears of day,
Not all the tears of night
Were aught against this hour.
Dear Lord, I pray that it
Be ringing there at heaven's gate,
For I have need of answer.

—Helen Wade.

MORE THAN GRASS

See how the rain has left the world new birth;
Has set the trees in black relief
Against this wind-swept haven so near our hearth.
O, take this hour to throw against some grief.
Just for today put up your solemn creeds—
Your thoughts on life's dark secret meaning.
I took the path that tramps down through the reeds
And found the winter woods a thing to sing.
And there I questioned not, nor asked a sign;
Leaned back against a wind clean tree
And thought, "I need no book—no written line
To know this thing as breath of life in me."
And you—you know no better than do I
Why I am not a bit of grass or tint of sky.

—Helen Wade.

Senior Class History

In September, 1939, Goshen College gates opened wide to receive one hundred and ten eager, inexperienced freshmen. It all seemed so new, but with the Get-Acquainted Social, entertainment by the faculty and the mutual distress caused by the Freshman Testing Program, we soon banded together as one segment of a much greater whole, Goshen College. The officers for our freshman year were Wilmer Schrock, president; Roy Roth, vice president; Howard Kauffman, treasurer; Bernice Meyer, secretary; Esther Hartzler, historian.

Even though our number shrank to sixty-seven in the year 1940-41, we did begin to make ourselves known on the campus. The Miller brothers led the class of '43 to the top in sports; others took their places in chorus, debate and scholarship. "Push" is descriptive of our second-year leaders. The class officers were Edwin Alderfer, president; Warren Leatherman, vice-president; Helen Hoover, secretary; and Elton Gunden, treasurer.

Being juniors laid new responsibilities at our door. Before getting down to work, however, we took time out to learn to know each other all over again at an outing near Benton. Many strange things happened that night to make us fear that our superiors had sneaked, but not till a rainy, snowy February night did they do so. All our prejudices were laid aside when the juniors and seniors joined hands to win the basketball tournament.

Some of our care-free feelings left, when Carl Beck, Paul and Dennis Miller, Howard Kauffman and Hugh King went to C.P.S. Camps. As juniors, we were sorry to see them go; to them, leaving meant sacrifice, but it also meant being loyal to a principle for which Goshen College stands.

We worked hard on the Junior-Senior Banquet, but felt highly repaid when Professor Yoder toasted. The Maple Leaf Staff had many a headache, but we are proud to have their workmanship on our shelves, as a reminder of another busy, worthwhile year of college.

The officers for our junior year were Galen Miller, president; Ethan Horst, vice-president; Margaret Detwiler, secretary; Russell Krabill, treasurer; Rosemary Roose, historian.

It was a good feeling to take senior seats in chapel at the beginning of our last year. But, strangely enough, we didn't have the self-satisfied feeling which we had hoped for. We realized that we had a lot to learn to prepare us for our work following graduation.

The first week in September found us sneaking "Deep in the Heart of Michigan". The juniors wept while we climbed sand dunes, swam in Lake Michigan and sang around the fire place. We did have our share of get-togethers this year—one at the City Park which starred Gig Lehman as guest tall-story teller, and another at Mary Shank's home.

These four years of college have been chock full of hard work, clean fun and inspiration. The class of '43 thanks you, Goshen College, for the challenge to give others the values you have taught us. We are ready to serve others with the culture received from you.

CLASS HISTORY

"A common sorrow knits a group together." So thought the junior class during their sad days after the seniors' departure from this small world, the Goshen College campus. While composing dirges, and preparing the last rites for a solemn and heart-rending occasion, the members of our class became acquainted quite well. Everyone cooperated, to make the service and the refreshments an unforgettable time in the minds of all the tear-faced mourners.

Quite a few juniors were at G. C. for the first time, but when the time for our annual outing came, we already felt like one big family. By various methods—which included wading the dam—the class members arrived at Byler's woods. This place has become the special picnic place for the class of '44. An egg throwing contest proved quite unique and provided much suspense.

Later in the fall a party was held in the cabin. The evening was spent in good companionship. Altogether, the juniors had a fine time together, and were sorry to see some of the members pass into the senior class at the end of the semester.

DAME HAPPINESS

Dame Happiness
A fickle wench is,
Smiling graciously
When her favor is not courted,
Fleeing who pursues her.

—Jeanne McPherson.

A BUBBLE

Love,
Like a wine-red bubble,
Gleaming like a crystal,
Grows slowly, steadily.
At last it swells so greatly
That, no longer able to keep its narrow confines,
Quivering, it bursts and flows o'er all.

—Jeanne McPherson.

TWILIGHT

You wane like a whisper—very weak,
You rise, vibrant as a deep viol,
For you have spent the interlude
With God.

THE MYSTERY

What is Time?
A narrow stream
cutting its path irresistibly through the lives of all.
What is Time?
A swift-flowing river
with fertile banks
yielding rich rewards to him who does not waste the precious gift.
What is Time?
A mighty torrent
rushing from the hand of God
into Eternity.

CLASS HISTORY

Sixty-four members of the class of '45 returned last fall for another year at Goshen College. Officers were chosen and class activities became numerous.

The trip to Brunk's cabin in the Michigan hills is a cherished memory to us sophomores. Transportation difficulties, both going and coming, only added to the enjoyment of the outing. Later on in the first semester, the "sophs" had another class party. Forgetting dignity and all grown-up worries, the members brought back childhood memories for an evening of merriment.

The second semester a few of the class could not return and several were transferred to the junior class, but several new members were welcomed into the group. On the whole, the interests of the class of '45 were many and varied; and sophomores could be found participating in all phases of college life and excelling in so many of them that it can truly be said that the class of '45 lives up to its motto: Not simple conquest, but triumph!

The Class of '46, which reigned alone on the campus during Freshman Days last fall, was just as cosmopolitan, just as individualistic, and almost as large as any previous freshman class entering Goshen College. The unusual atmosphere of seriousness and uncertainty which pervaded, as a result of national conditions, was not entirely undesirable. It was necessary for many to make vocational plans immediately, and that has its advantages.

Freshman Days, with the tests, formal receptions, and less formal socials, served both to acquaint us with college life and with each other and to foster a splendid class spirit. Each member of the class was informally introduced at the Freshman Banquet in the dining hall. The mid-semester party, held in the gymnasium, provided a delightful evening, complete with pie alamode and the girl-dates-boy feature.

Freshman athletes were prominent in inter-society, varsity-alumni, and "A" League basketball. The championship title of the Women's Softball League was captured by the Freshman A's. Freshmen were active in extra-curricular forensic activities and supported literary, religious, and musical organizations. Several quartets were organized. This year has meant much in the enrichment of our lives.

DUSK

When velvet shadows
Creep over sleepy gardens
I do not light my lamps
But sit in the gloom with memory.

She is a lovely companion
And we sit and talk while
The shadows deepen.

As she reluctantly leaves
I get up to fill the room
With a soft glow to banish
This new feeling of desolation.

PRAYER TO THE SOUTH WIND

Run your long slim fingers
Through my hair, O South Wind;
Blow the sweet perfume of your breath
Into my nostrils; wrap me in the spell
Of your cool soft caresses. Let me forget
What I have been or am to be; make me a part
Of earth, and wind, and sky.

—Lois Yoder.

FLIRTATION

Staid maples
Turn their heads shyly
Under the South Wind's
Gentle caresses.

—Lois Yoder.

HUMAN EGOTISM

A dark cloud hung in the sky,
The thunder rumbled loud,
I asked myself the reason why
Man should be so proud.

There's power in the tempest
That agitates each tree,
And there's noble strength and grandeur
In the surging of the sea.

There is grandeur in the sunset,
There is glory in the dawn,
And the beauties of the rainbow
Man has set his heart upon.

With nature's glories and her strength
In view on every hand,
Why mortal man should be so proud
I cannot understand.

The oldest organized division of Goshen College is the Bible School. It is the aim of the Bible School to build the spiritual life of its students, and to train them for effective service as lay workers, missionaries, and ministers. For the accomplishment of these aims a variety of activities is provided. A thorough course of Bible study, including Biblical languages, church history and practical work, is provided.

The Bible School offers two short courses of training and one longer course. The one-year Christian Workers' Course gives the student two semesters of concentrated Bible study and leads to a certificate. The two-year Bible Course leads to the degree, Associate in Arts in Bible. The longer course, established in September, 1942, is a five-year program of training leading to the degree, Bachelor of Theology. It includes two years of Liberal Arts and three years of Biblical and Theological study.

Intersession

THE WAR AND THE ACCELERATED PROGRAM 1942-1943

Pearl Harbor brought radical changes to higher education in America. The first of these changes was a voluntary acceleration in the program of most colleges and universities to enable men subject to military service to complete as much as possible of their college and professional courses before induction. The second change was the institution of courses of study designed to prepare directly for military work and for war industry and research. Only the first of these changes applied to Goshen College.

The acceleration program at Goshen College as put into effect January 1, 1942, included the following changes: (1) elimination of the spring recess, (2) shortening of the second semester by one week, and the first semester by two weeks, with advance of the opening of the school year by one week, (3) the insertion of six weeks of additional school work after the close of the second semester. The result of these changes was (1) to enable students to complete the equivalent of three semesters, or forty-five semester hours of credit, in one year; (2) to put the entire first semester before the Christmas recess; (3) to close the regular school year by May 1st.

The registration in the accelerated sessions was surprisingly large: Intersession (May 19—June 5, 1942) 100; Summer Session (June 8—August 7, 1942) 115; Postsession (August 10—August 28, 1942) 37. Approximately fifty regular students followed an accelerated program throughout the year.

Summer School

In 1942 the summer session was operated on the basis of an accelerated program which made it possible for a student to earn one semester's credit during the summer. It consisted of three terms—immediately following commencement on May 18, a three-week intersession began; then followed regular summer school, after which a three-week postsession was held.

The summer session lasted nine weeks, from June 8 to August 7. The student body, a group of one hundred fifteen students, was much larger than ever before. School teachers working for a degree were enrolled as usual. In addition, a large number of regular students remained, most of them desiring to complete as much work as possible before being called by Selective Service. Fifteen regular faculty members taught thirty-one courses offered during this period.

Students participated in a larger number of extra-curricular activities than in former summers. A Y.P.C.A. cabinet, appointed for the summer, sponsored devotional, extension, and social activities, which were led by student chairmen. A chorus was directed by B. F. Hartzler. Daily ball-games and the summer school outing at Camp Mack provided recreation. Thus summer school played its part in the new streamlined, educational program.

Winter Bible School

The forty-third annual Winter Bible School of Goshen College was held from January 4 to February 12, 1943. The enrollment this year was less than it has been for a number of years because many men are in camps and others are in employment. Forty-seven were enrolled this year: twenty-four from Indiana, eight from Ohio, seven from Illinois, six from Michigan, and two from Pennsylvania. We feel that those who came made a real sacrifice and were desirous of fitting themselves for fuller Christian service.

The officers of the Winter Bible School for this year were D. A. Yoder, Principal, and, in the absence of the secretary, I. E. Burkhart, who was in field work for the college, John C. Wenger served as acting secretary. The special instructors were D. A. Yoder, Elkhart, Indiana; Ira S. Johns, Goshen, Indiana; Harold Zehr, Rantoul, Illinois; Phil Frey, Archbold, Ohio; and Lester Hershey, Chicago, Illinois. Lester Hershey also had charge of the religious, literary, and social activities of the Bible School on and off the campus. Courses were also offered by the following regular Goshen College faculty: S. C. Yoder, Paul Mininger, John Umble, Walter Yoder, Olive Wyse, Mary Royer, Mrs. Paul Erb, H. Harold Hartzler, and B. F. Hartzler. James Byler, a college student, conducted the Winter Bible School Chorus.

Almost every weekend, gospel teams composed of Winter Bible School students were sent out to the various churches in the community. Thus the students gained much practical experience. The Christian Life Conference from February 12 to 14 brought the session to a successful close.

A historical study of our American Colleges reveals that most of them were founded by religious groups. Unfortunately the spiritual program has gradually been pushed into the background, until today it is hard to find a college where the religious emphasis pervades.

It is the purpose of the Young People's Christian Association of Goshen College to foster and maintain the Christian emphasis on the campus. It is a student organization which strives to provide for the spiritual needs of the students. The youth of our church has gathered here from all parts of the country in quest of Christian fellowship and growth.

The Y.P.C.A. realizes that Christian growth and development comes through study and activity. As a guide in its endeavors, the organization has drawn up the following aims:

1. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
2. To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
3. To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through prayer and the study of the Bible, as well as to stimulate well-rounded development of mind and body.
4. To promote throughout the College a positive moral and religious spirit.
5. To challenge students to devote themselves, in united effort with all Christians, to making the will of Christ effective among men, and to extend the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

The Christian Workers' Band has grown to be one of the largest and most active voluntary student organizations on the campus, with over ninety members. Its activities consist of a religious program each Sunday morning before breakfast and a morning prayer meeting every Wednesday.

The Christian Workers' Band attempts to have an inspirational influence on all other organizations and activities. A special appeal for young people to consecrate their lives to Christian service was presented by guest speakers: J. D. Graber, Gideon Yoder, and several home-comers. Interest in foreign missionary work was encouraged through the monthly program given by the Foreign Missions Fellowship. At the Christmas program some fine reproductions of Madonna paintings were shown. The regular meetings of the Band centered around the theme, "Training of the Twelve." The members received many practical applications by studying the methods Christ used to train his disciples.

The Christian Workers' Band is not primarily an organization to do practical work as the name might imply. Its ultimate purpose is to prepare students to serve in their home communities after college.

Bible Circle

President	Darwin O'Connell
Secretary-Treasurer	Ruth Miller
Third Member	Harold Bauman
Sponsor	Professor John C. Wenger

The purpose of the Bible Circle is to create a greater interest in Bible study. The organization welcomes as members all students, especially those enrolled in the Bible School. This year's membership was higher than ever before, reaching a total of seventy-three.

Meetings were held once each month. Among the subjects discussed were: "Getting Acquainted with the Book," "Big Men but Little Known," and the Christmas Story in prophecy. By means of illustrated lectures, the group visited South America with S. C. Yoder, and the Holy Land with President Miller. Informal meetings consisted of breakfasts held outdoors, one in the fall and another in the spring, and the annual dinner in the dining hall.

A special Bible Circle project was completed this year. Rows of log benches facing a concrete platform form a small amphitheater in the cabin area. Here small groups may hold outdoor services by the river-side.

Through activities such as these, the Bible Circle functions not only as a study group, but also as an influence in the spiritual life and Christian fellowship among the students.

Foreign Missions Fellowship

President	Thelma Miller
Vice President	Ernest Shank
Secretary-Treasurer	Lois Swihart
Sponsor	Professor Sanford C. Yoder

Once a month the Foreign Missions Fellowship meets with the purpose of becoming better acquainted with the work in the foreign fields. Any student who is interested in the extension of the Kingdom of God and who is concerned for the lost in the foreign countries may become a member.

Among our members are those who have lived in foreign mission fields for several years. They gave us first hand information about conditions there. This year the Foreign Missions Fellowship was divided into four groups, namely, India, South America, Africa, and China. Each group studied his field and gave two programs about it. A project of the group was that of sending Christmas greetings to all of our missionaries.

The needs presented and the inspiration received through the Foreign Missions Fellowship were a challenge to all its members for greater service and deeper consecration to God.

Mennonite Historical Society

President	Harold S. Bender
Vice President	Guy F. Hershberger
Secretary	John Umble
Treasurer	John C. Wenger

The Mennonite Historical Society was founded in 1924 to promote interest, research and publication in the field of Mennonite history. Members of the faculty, together with a fine group of students, make up the membership of the organization. Control of the society is vested in a board of twelve directors, nine faculty members and three students. Regular quarterly programs were given.

In 1929 the society began the publication of a series of monographs entitled, Studies in Anabaptist and Mennonite History. The latest one published was Conrad Grebel by Harold S. Bender, 1943. Two other monographs written by Robert Friedmann and Ernst Correll will be published soon.

The Society is also happy to have created the Mennonite Historical Library, which is now housed in a special room in the basement of the Memorial Library. The College library has been fortunate to have the services of Robert Friedmann, an able scholar in the field of Mennonite history, in cataloging the holdings of the Mennonite Historical Library during the past year.

Peace Society

President	Norman Loux
Vice President	Albert W. Miller
Secretary	Areta Graber
Treasurer	Edward Diener

In a time when the whole world is engaged in a tremendous conflict and men are possessed with a peculiar hatred for each other, the Goshen College Peace Society stands out as a symbol of non-resistance. It is not our desire to aid in bringing about a universal peace by political manipulation, but rather to perpetuate the spirit of Jesus through a positive testimony of peace and good will to those who are in need. To this cause the Peace Society is dedicated.

The Peace Society offers to faculty and students the opportunity for self-expression by having frank and open discussion of various problems. Two of the programs dealt with the consideration of the "Problems of Civilian Defense" and "The Biblical Basis of Non-Resistance." At a later meeting Mr. Levi Hartzler and Mr. J. Boyd Cressman discussed "Problems Related to Relief Work." The Peace Society also sponsored an Armistice Day program at which time Prof. Carl Kreider gave a lecture entitled "The Mennonite College Student Faces a Post-War World".

It is the hope and prayer of the Peace Society that it may do its share in keeping alive the peace testimony of the Mennonite Church.

Dormitory Councils

Dean of Men - - - - - - - - - - - - - Levi Hartzler
Dean of Women - - - - - - - - - - - - - Viola Good
Proctor of Coffman Hall - - - first semester, Warren Leatherman
Proctor of Coffman Hall - - - second semester, Don McCammon

A feeling of family kinship is maintained in Kulp Hall through the efforts of the Standards Committee. This year the committee made attractive invitations in the shape of Kulp Hall, to send to mothers and the women of the community, requesting their presence at Sisters' All. By skillful planning each girl became the hostess of a mother, and the annual Sisters' All was truly a success. Dormitory parties, house-meetings, and teas for out-of-dorm girls and the Winter Bible School girls were also arranged by the committee. The year's activities were climaxed by the annual "open house".

Two representatives from each class are elected to serve on the committee. Meetings are held bi-weekly with the Dean of Women, and problems related to dormitory life are discussed. The girls are asked to refer their problems to the members of the Standards Committee for consideration.

Coffman Hall, realizing the value of self-government, organized a Dormitory Council in 1939. The council is an elective body composed of two members from each class under the chairmanship of the student proctor, and sponsored by the Personnel Assistant. The Dormitory Council is directly responsible to the administration of the college. It meets regularly to discuss problems and to offer suggestions for dormitory administration. After the council passes upon a question, a house meeting is called at which time new suggestions are presented to all the men for approval.

The council is primarily responsible for the success of the social activities of the dormitory. This year at the "open house" for all visitors they managed to transform the gym into a broadcasting station. The skillful, humorous portrayal of various types of radio programs was much appreciated by the audience.

Emergency Service Committee

Chairman - - - - - - - - - - Professor Paul Mininger
Secretary - - - - - - - - - - - - Miss Viola Good

The Emergency Service Committee was organized again this year due to the growing consciousness on the part of students and faculty that in this national emergency we should attempt to make a positive contribution. With this purpose in mind, the committee has organized its work into four divisions; namely, community service, Civilian Public Service Camps, post-war problems, and conservation.

In cooperation with the Welfare Agency of Elkhart County, students have worked with crippled and retarded children. Some students read to old people. Several athletically inclined men coached young boys of the community in organized recreation every Saturday forenoon.

Work of the committee made it possible to bring a group of former students from C.P.S. Camps to the campus during Homecoming. Materials for study groups in C.P.S. Camps have been supplied.

Study of post war problems in cooperation with the Peace Society has effected a greater interest in and preparation for prospective relief work. The students were made aware of their obligation to conserve the nation's resources whenever possible. Relief meals gave us the opportunity to sacrifice for others who are in need.

Through the Emergency Service Committee students have been stimulated to new avenues of service in this time of great emergency.

C. P. S. Training Corps

The Goshen College Civilian Public Service Training Corps unit was established after Selective Service agreed to allow men with 4-E draft classification to remain in college by special arrangement in order to prepare for foreign relief work after the war. Each man admitted to the program agrees to give one year of service to foreign relief work at the close of the war or whenever relief work becomes possible. During his college course the student in the program is allowed to pursue his usual course of study, but at the same time he must chose his electives in subjects contributing directly to preparation for relief work.

In addition to a willingness to pledge a year's time to relief work the students in the training corps must meet certain academic and personality qualifications. His application for admission is first of all approved by Carl Kreider, the Goshen College local officer of the corps, after which the case is reviewed by the Educational Council of the National Service Board for Religious Objectors. President Miller, the Mennonite representative on this council, was the guiding spirit in forming the plans for the College Civilian Public Service Training Corps units. In addition to Goshen College, the Educational Council has approved the formation of units in other colleges, in most cases colleges affiliated with the Mennonites, Brethren and Quakers.

A special summer training school for juniors and seniors in the program is planned for this summer where intensive study will be made of China, Central Europe, and Southeastern South America, as probable relief areas.

Vesperian Literary Society

President - - - - - - - - First Semester, Naomi Brubaker
President - - - - - - - - Second Semester, Thelma Miller

At the first meeting of the year, the Vesperians portrayed future careers of individual members for the entertainment of those new girls who did not belong to a literary society as yet. This "Rush Day" program resulted in the addition of thirty-two new members to the society.

The Adelphian and Vesperian societies cooperated in many activities during the year. The annual fall outing was held at the cabin. Outdoor games, a picnic supper and group singing were enjoyed. The annual public program centered around the theme, "My Country 'Tis of Thee". November days were busy ones for the Adelphians and Vesperians who made the Indian and Pilgrim costumes, painted the scenic background, and practiced music for this portrayal of the first Thanksgiving. The two societies cooperated again for their Christmas party, when gifts of food were donated for the East Goshen community.

Vesperian interest was not confined to the weekly programs. The society also sponsored volley and soft-ball games with the Avons, the annual after-dinner program, and the women's discussion contest. These many varied activities were undertaken in the spirit of the society's motto, "Excelsior!"

Adelphian Literary Society

President - - - - - - - - - First Semester, James Byler
President - - - - - - - - - Second Semester, Edwin Alderfer

The final returns of Solicitation Day disclosed that twenty-six members had joined the Adelphian Literary Society. The new men won the welcome and full acceptance of the old members by giving a number of programs at the beginning of the year.

The Adelphians and the Vesperians merged their talents in the presentation of a public program with the title, "My Country 'Tis of Thee". They disclosed their ability for story-telling, war-whooping, cabin-building, preaching, and singing as they played the roles of Indians and Pilgrims in Colonial American life. It was requested that each member bring to the conjoint Christmas party an article of food which was donated to the needy in the East Goshen Sunday School area.

Other activities of the Adelphians included competition with the Auroras in athletics, outings, and programs for the appreciation of classical music and contemporary art. Adelphians and Vesperians proved themselves the better "fishermen" in the Maple Leaf sales contest. Their reward was a treat by the losing societies. Richard Yordy, an Adelphian, won the Annual Men's Discussion Contest and received a bronze colored desk lamp for first prize. Thus in these many ways the Adelphians "learned to do by doing."

Avon Literary Society

President - - - - - - - - First Semester, Margaret Detwiler
President - - - - - - - - - Second Semester, Mary Oyer

At the bottom of the Ad building steps in September the Avons welcomed thirty-five new members into their society. The Avon-Aurora fall outing was held in the city park. It was quite a success with games, food, and fun but without the usual rain.

Bi-weekly programs were enjoyed throughout the year. During Indian Summer members received a taste of Indian life in song, story, and poetry with apples and parched corn as refreshments. Later followed a Thanksgiving program and also a spelling bee. An Avon Mending party proved to be quite a novel yet practical meeting.

A high point of the second semester was the Avon-Aurora public program, "This Is Our America," given January 22. The privileges and freedoms that make America distinctive were portrayed by singing, acting, and slides.

Through another year's activities the loyal Avons have had this motto in their hearts, "To be rather than to seem".

Aurora Literary Society

President - - - - - - - - - First Semester, Galen Miller
President - - - - - - - - - Second Semester, George Falb

On the day of solicitation last September the Aurora Literary Society received twenty-nine fellows, increasing its active membership to fifty. As a part of their initiation the new members gave the first few programs. Since meetings were held bi-weekly, more effort was put forth to make each one successful. With this plan attendance increased a great deal also.

Several conjoint meetings were held with the Avons, one of these being the annual Avon-Aurora Outing. The climax of the united efforts of the two societies came in the second semester with the performance of the public program. The best talent of both societies was employed in the musical selections and dramatizations.

Keeping in mind their motto, "Forward", the Auroras marched to victory in the annual softball game with the Adelphians. Likewise, the football title went to the Auroras after two close, hard-fought games. They also won the basketball game in the first semester by a very small margin.

Thus, another successful year is recorded for the Auroras.

A Cappella Chorus

President	James Byler
Vice President	Rosemary Roose
Business Manager	Edwin Alderfer
Director	Professor Walter Yoder

The first A Cappella Chorus rehearsal is always awaited with great eagerness. Work on favorite numbers for the Thanksgiving program began at once. This year the chorus shared in the citywide union Thanksgiving service held at the Baptist Church at sunrise. Nothing contributes more to the true Christmas spirit than does the rendition of the "Messiah" by both choruses of the school. The Shipshewana Community Chorus invited our chorus to join them in singing the "Messiah" there. Chapel programs, vesper services, and programs throughout the city afforded other means of service to the appreciative. The "Holy City" with its simplicity and depth of feeling, assumes a prominent part of commencement as the seniors at that time realize the vital part that the chorus has filled in their lives.

Realizing the need for material service the chorus redecorated the music room this year.

The feeling of united effort in religious worship through song, the pure joy of singing, the desire of "Culture for Service"—all more than justify the long hours of tedious practice.

Collegiate Chorus

President	Ford Berg
Secretary	Leda Litwiller
Treasurer	Lloyd Frantz
Director	Professor Paul Erb

Since the A Cappella Chorus consisted of upper classmen alone this year, the Collegiate Chorus became largely a Freshman Chorus. Thus the Collegiate Chorus had the first choice voices of the Freshman Class and was not considered a second chorus. Many hope it will be a stepping stone to A Cappella Chorus next year. The year's training certainly was a step in that direction.

Appreciation of classical music was developed by singing songs from the masters. In the fall the chorus practiced the "Messiah" and at Christmas time joined the A Cappella Chorus in rendering this magnificent work of Handel's. In the spring many old hymns were learned thus developing an appreciation of our great church hymns. Several programs were given in the neighboring churches. The accompanist this year was Julia Schrock. Each member learned that a chorus is a cooperative activity and not merely many individuals singing together. Each learned to follow a director, to attack punctually, to rise gradually on crescendos and float on diminuendos, to blend his voice with others, to improve his sight-reading, and to become conscious of flatting. Thus we had a melodious year.

German Language Club

President	Warren Leatherman
Vice President	Adella Brunk
Secretary	Christine Weaver
Treasurers	Doris Schertz and Paul Leatherman
Sponsor	Professor Jacob Sudermann

The members of the German Language Club consist of those who are taking or have taken German in college. On Hallowe'en the club met at the cabin for the annual evening of fun and frolic. Initiation of new members was followed by several German games. The German Band also entertained with a few selections.

The strains of "Stille Nacht, heilige Nacht," opened the Christmas program which is the high-light of the German Club's activities for the year. With candles and scripture, with songs and pageantry, the classes presented the Christmas story.

Several meetings were spent in singing old favorite German hymns together. At other meetings, usually held the fourth Monday of each month, the club members learned to appreciate German poetry and music, and tried their talent at giving a recitation in the German language.

Each year our German Club is progressing, thanks to our energetic sponsor, Professor Sudermann.

Le Cercle Francais

President	Weyburn Groff
Vice President	Dorothy Kauffman
Secretary	Julia Goodell
Treasurer	Ralph Gunden
Sponsor	Mrs. Lydia Shank

Le Cercle Francais is a club organized for the purpose of promoting an enjoyment for French language, music, literature and art. A knowledge and appreciation of the French spirit is fostered through an acquaintance with the ideals and culture of the French.

Meetings were held once a month under the supervision of Mrs. Lydia Shank, the French instructor. The time was spent singing French songs and learning about France through various speakers. Mr. Boyd Cressmen, at one meeting, spoke of conditions in France as he witnessed them at the close of the World War I. The high light of the year's social events was the Christmas party held in Culp Hall social room.

Each meeting was made a vital part of the student's present day thinking by the presentation of today's happenings in France.

The main objectives of the Record during the past year were: to exclude unnecessary departments and mere "filler" features, and to include only those items which were definitely news. Two new departments, "Speaking of Books", and "What About?" were added. Club articles were used only when they dealt with worthwhile news events. Considerable effort was put forth by the editors to discuss subjects which were of practical campus interest in their editorials. The "Y" presidents took their turn in expressing themselves in the "'Y' Reflections" column. The creative literary ability of a large number of students was given expression in the articles of the Homecoming Supplement Edition.

The financial management of the paper was also very capably handled, and the mailing list was increased to approximately two hundred. Advertisements were kept at a minimum, to allow for more news space, but nevertheless, the financial figures look more encouraging than for some time.

Students and faculty alike are always eager for the next issue to appear —an indication that the Record is still improving and that it is continuing to meet the approval of all its readers.

Thoughtful expressions and puckered brows were quite in order at the first meeting of the Maple Leaf Staff last fall. After the meeting, our sponsor, Dean Bender, produced his traditional ice cream treat. We decided to present the year's activities centered around the theme of Pennsylvania Dutch Art believing that this part of our heritage is actually unknown to many.

Sincere efforts have been exerted to make the year book financially successful. Literary societies competed in selling annuals for one month. The Adelphians and Vesperians societies won the contest. Competition between individuals also ran high. Prizes were won as follows: Ralph Krabill, first; Verda Lambright, second; Anna Shirey, third.

Throughout the year the theme has been quite inspiring to the staff. They sincerely hope that Goshen College students and faculty continue to strive to follow in the steps of the Rose of Sharon, and to further that cause of brotherhood and peace which the interlocked doves symbolize.

Elementary Education Club

President - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Barbara Esch
Secretary-Treasurer - - - - - - - - - - Florence Yordy

All those students taking the Elementary Education Course are eligible for membership. There were forty-two prospective teachers who were members. Meetings were held on the second Wednesday of every month at 4:10 P.M. At these meetings suitable speakers were invited from the community to give helpful and informative talks to the group which were quite profitable for future teachers.

At one meeting the guest speaker was the children's librarian of the Goshen City Library, Miss Arnold, who displayed a fine exhibit of children's books. Miss Britton, music supervisor of the City Schools, spoke at another meeting. A tea was given for all the critic teachers who assist the student practice teachers. A party was held for some of the small children of the community giving practical experience to the prospective teachers in entertaining small children. Thus the club activities were not only entertaining, but also practical.

Audubon Society

President	Ernest Shank
Vice President	Edwin Alderfer
Secretary	Gladys Graber
Treasurers	John Detwiler, Mary Rose Linder
Sponsor	Professor Paul Erb

Observing birds in their natural habitat was only one activity of the Audubon Society this year. When weather did not permit hiking, the Audubons enjoyed a bird-guessing game at the cabin. Another time the society studied colored pictures as an aid to identification of birds. A high-light of the year was the day spent at the Medaryville C.P.S. Camp in the Jasper-Pulaski State Game Preserve studying the many land and water birds. The members also fed the birds regularly at the Audubon hut situated near the cabin.

In these various ways the Audubon Society fulfills its three-fold purpose: to stimulate interest in bird-study, to attract birds to the campus, and to encourage protection of bird life in the community.

Home Economics Club

President	Verda Lambright
Vice President	Christine Weaver
Secretary	Elizabeth Barringer

Anyone taking work in the Home Economics Department, who is interested in broadening his interests in this field, is eligible for membership in this club. The purpose of the organization is to serve as an avenue of expression through which students with kindred interests may exchange their ideas.

Twelve old members and thirteen prospective members attended the first meeting of the year which was a hamburger fry around the outdoor fireplace of our sponsor, Miss Wyse. The second meeting was designed to extend our interests to the problems of homemaking in foreign countries. In this meeting Mrs. Nelson gave a talk on "Home Life in China" and exhibited costumes, dishes, and souvenirs from that country. As a whole the meetings centered around personality growth and various aspects of home living. For one meeting the club went to the Parkside School to hear Dr. and Mrs. Gary Myers, child specialists, who presented in dialogue form the subject "Our Children in These Times." The club also aimed to be of service to the community in various ways. At one of our meetings the Homemaker's Club of the community was invited to a panel discussion on "Conservation."

The ultimate aim of the club is to aid each member in filling well her own particular place in life—be it teacher, nurse, or homemaker.

Secretarial Course Students

The secretarial course curriculum is a two-semester program. A certificate is granted after the successful completion of typewriting, secretarial accounting, shorthand, fundamentals of English, business English, personal hygiene, secretarial training, and office training. Besides this, each student is permitted to take one or two electives.

This was the fifth year that a complete one-year secretarial course has been offered. The following was the geographical distribution of this year's full-time girls: Ohio, four; Illinois, four; Indiana, three; Virginia, one; and Michigan, one.

Goshen College feels justified in offering this course since there are girls who want to take a business course at a college where they can secure not only good secretarial training but can also secure the many religious, cultural, and social privileges offered there.

DEBATE, DIVISION "B"
Robert Kunderd, Eugene Hess, Harold Bauman, Paul Lederach

Forensics

Because of crowded schedules and the accelerated program, debate activities have dropped to a new low this year. Neither the class in debating nor the freshman-sophomore inter-class debates materialized. Since only one experienced debater could enter the Manchester tournament, it was impossible to arrange teams for the "A" division. Two sophomores and two freshmen are registered for the "B" division.

Richard Yordy, an Adelphian, won the Aurora prize, a student desk lamp, in the Men's Annual Discussion Contest. Jeanette Rowell, an Avon, won the Avon prize, a leather desk set, in the Women's Poetry Reading Contest. Other contests held were the Women's Discussion Contest, sponsored by the Vesperians; the Waldo Thutt Stalter Freshman Men's Discussion Contest; the F. S. Ebersole Freshman Men's Peace Oratorical Contest; and the Annual Peace Oratorical Contest, the winner of which enters the state contest.

The Alumni Association of Goshen College was organized in 1900 and has a membership of nearly 3,000. It is managed by a board of eighteen directors, elected six each year for a term of three years.

In 1930 the Association adopted the slogan "Every Alumnus a Contributor Every Year." In 1937, in order to hasten membership of Goshen College in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association established the "Alumni Division of the Goshen College Accreditment Plan" to provide regular annual income, "living endowment," in lieu of proceeds from invested endowment. Alumni support of this plan both before and after Goshen's admission into the N.C.A. in 1941 has been very gratifying.

The Annual Alumni Reunion, held on the campus at Commencement, and the Association's Alumni News-Letter, printed quarterly, aid in preserving alumni unity. Five regional alumni reunions foster loyalties and perpetuate college friendships. In December, 1942, the President of the Association made a good-will tour, visiting alumni living in the larger eastern cities. Alumni response was generous and loyal.

Gospel Teams

There was prevalent on our campus this fall a feeling that Goshen College would be unable to send out Gospel Teams over the 1942 Christmas vacation because of the decrease in transportation facilities. Goshen College is indeed grateful that it was possible for four teams to make tours, even though the personnel and itineraries of the teams were somewhat abbreviated.

The Illinois-Iowa team made the longest tour, traveling by bus and train. The team was composed of Frederick Swartzendruber, Albert Buckwalter, Daniel Kauffman, and Arthur Smucker, quartet, and Russell Krabill, leader of the group. They stopped at Flanagan, Hopedale, Fisher, Morton, Pleasant Hill, Peoria, Metamora, Wayland and East Union.

Five men traveled east through northwestern Ohio and Pennsylvania by car. The quartet in this team was composed of Sturges Miller, Warren Leatherman, Robert Byler, and Roy Roth (also leader). They stopped at Kidron, Beech, and North Lima, Ohio, and Lancaster, and Doylestown, Pa.

During the last three days of vacation another team gave programs in central and western Ohio. The quartet, made up of James Byler (leader), David Byler, Robert Byler and Roy Roth, gave programs at Walnut Creek, Plain City, West Liberty, Lima and Elida, Ohio.

Programs this year varied from programs of previous years in that only one main talk was given each evening. It was supplemented, however, by testimonies by two members of the team. Topics used by the men's teams were "Christian Youth Faces Today's Problems", "Christian Youth Faces Temptations", and "The Faith of Our Fathers — the Challenge to Youth".

The Junior Ladies' Quartet spent the last weekend of vacation on tour. They gave programs at Freeport, Chicago Home Mission, and the Mexican Mission, using the two topics "The New Year, an Open Door" and "Making our Lives Beautiful". The ladies team, as the other teams, through the services rendered, received a challenge to live more consecrated.

"G" Council

President	James Byler
Vice President	Kay Nelson
Secretary-Treasurer	Frederick Swartzendruber

Today the necessity of keeping oneself physically fit is being realized more than ever before. In order to cope with this need the Men's Athletic Association, in cooperation with the Faculty Athletic Committee, provides opportunity for every student to participate in competitive athletic games. Not only are there games such as softball, football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball, but there is provided competition for individual participation in tennis, ping-pong, badminton, handball, shuffleboard, horseshoes, archery, track, swimming and skiing.

The "G" Council, representing the student body, consists of students who have been awarded a letter for superior ability in athletic competition. At various times during the school year, the group meets to make plans for the intra-mural program and to submit student opinion to the athletic director, Roman Gingerich.

Thus, the "G" Council assists the Men's Athletic Association to make it more democratic and complete in its structure and aids the association in accomplishing its purpose of providing physical recreation for students of every temperament.

FIRST ROW: Thelma Miller, Dorothy Snapp, Areta Graber, Verda Lambright.
SECOND ROW: Doris Schertz, Ruby Fisher.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association, sponsor of the year's recreational program, offers membership to all women students. Officers of this group are women who have won a letter in a previous year.

With the aim of encouraging a daily recreational program which will be conducive to good health, the W. A. A. provides opportunity for competition in both major and minor sports—basketball, softball, volleyball, soccer, track, tennis, badminton, ping pong, archery, shuffleboard, and horseshoe. Winter sports are added in season.

Each of the sports is organized by a letter-woman, and seasons in all activities are culminated by tournaments—championship games in team games, and perpetual tournaments in individual sports.

Each year ten letters are awarded to the ten girls having the highest number of points. The point system, set up by an athletic council, serves as an effective criterion for awards. Ribbon awards are made for track-meet winners. The highest award of the year is a letter sweater, given to the girl with the highest number of points.

The W. A. A., in creating an interest in athletics and providing an opportunity for every girl's participation, serves a valuable purpose on the Goshen College campus.

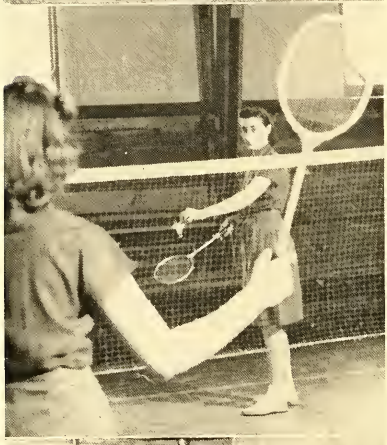
Baseball

Before the snow has disappeared in February, there is one decisive sign that spring is in the offing. When the fellows get out their gloves and limber up, one is positive that soon the cheers of many interested spectators will urge the losers or the victors on to greater success. Never does baseball suffer lack of interest from either players or fans.



Badminton

In winter months when courts are snowbound, tennis fans find badminton a pleasant substitute. Light rackets drive the feathered shuttlecock back and forth in the small range of the indoor court. Speed and accuracy are required for a skillful game. The men's and women's annual tournaments aroused enthusiasm among many badminton players.

Shuffleboard

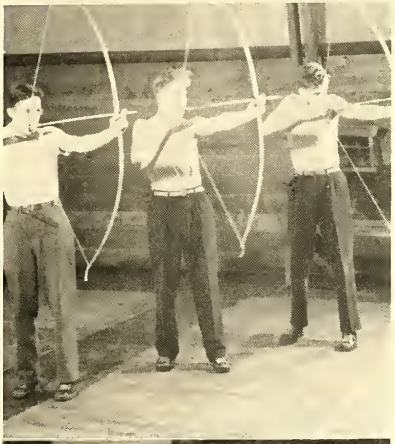
Though requiring but little physical energy, shuffleboard does demand definite skill and judgment to be successfully played. Many who are not interested in the more active games find much pleasure as well as exercise in this activity. Annually tournaments are held for all those interested, and considerable competition is evidenced before the final champion emerges.

Winter Sports

Every student enjoys the outdoor sports of skiing, tobogganing, and skating. When it is cold, the dam and even the tennis courts prove good skating grounds. After a snow storm the New Paris Hills are an excellent place for skiing and tobogganing. The warm dormitories are always appreciated after the fun.

Archery

With the twanging of many bow-strings, a host of arrows fly toward the targets, whereupon cries of exultation or disappointment are to be heard over the results. The faculty, as well as the students, finds enjoyment in attempting the skills of the Indian hunters. Archery may be enjoyed indoors or out by all, weak or strong.



Volleyball

Volleyball is probably the best liked of all the minor sports. It is a game for all to play. It demands sportsmanship, teamwork, and skill. Organized contests give incentive to make volleyball a really worthwhile activity in the late winter months.

TOILING

Rippling, dancing, flowing river,
    From shadow to sun
    You tumble and run.
What strange message to deliver
Presses you from these green bowers?
    O, linger and rest!
    There's not a behest
Here in lands of fragrant flowers.

On to deeper current rushing,
    Proceeding with strength
    By woodland's cool length,
Under heaven's lustre flushing;
Whisp'ring river's heard replying,
    "By ceasing to toil
    My beauty I'd soil,
Lying useless, stagnant, dying."

Hustling, tapping, hamm'ring, turning,
    See man at his work—
    Mechanic or clerk—
Where is one his work not spurning?
Man, regard yon river's crying,
    "By ceasing to toil
    My beauty I'd soil,
Lying useless, stagnant, dying."
